NOTIFICATIONS.

Fort St. George, December 4, 1934 (S. O. No. 247, Police).

No. 26.—It has been represented to the Government of India that it is desirable that they should reaffirm, and in certain respects amplify, the orders which have been issued from time to time in regard to the conduct and forfeiture of pensions, rewards, etc., earned by military service, the holders of which become involved in some form of seditious agitation or disloyalty towards Government. The Government of India understand that there is a feeling among serving soldiers in particular that the intentions of Government in regard to this matter should be made clear and should be consistently carried out; and the Governor-General in Council has accordingly been pleased to issue the following instructions on the subject.

2. The liability to forfeit pension may be incurred without a pensioner having been actually convicted by a criminal court of an offence constituting disaffection or disloyalty towards Government: in other cases the liability arises directly from such conviction. In order to determine the practice and procedure which should be followed, it is necessary to deal with these two classes of cases separately, and it is also necessary to make it clear that there must be a difference of treatment in regard to (a) pensions, Sans service, and other forms of recurring money payments, and (b) grants of land given as rewards for military service.

3. Cases in which the liability to forfeit pension is incurred without the pensioner having been actually convicted of an offence constituting disaffection or disloyalty towards Government.—The Government of India have decided that the following principles shall apply:—

(i) Subject to the investigation of each case on its merits, seditious and violent agitation against the administration falls within the meaning of the expression "grave misconduct" for the purposes of paragraph 169, Pay and Allowance Regulations, Part II, as amended by Army Instructions (India), No. 801 of 1924 (extracts annexed), and agitation in the form of passive resistance to the orders of Government or advocacy of such a course may, in certain circumstances, be so considered, amount to "grave misconduct".

(ii) Active support or advocacy of the movement of non-co-operation also constitutes "grave misconduct" for the purposes of the rule cited above, each case being treated on its merits;

(iii) A warning should be given to the prisoner before penal action is resorted to, but the Local Government may, at their discretion, dispense with such a warning.

It must be recognised, however, that these prisoners are not amenable to the Indian Army Act, and the military authorities will not take any action unless and until the Local Government make a definite recommendation to the District Commander, to the effect that a prisoner should forfeit his pension. Action has therefore to be initiated by the civil authorities and heads of departments and District Magistrates have accordingly been instructed in G.O. No. 101, Public, dated 26th April 1922, to report to Government all cases coming to their notice in which a military prisoner actively supports or participates in such political agitation or movement as is mentioned above.

On receipt of a recommendation from the Local Government the question of withdrawing the pension under the provisions of paragraph 162, Pay and Allowance Regulations, Part II, as amended by Army Instructions (India), No. 901 of 1924 will be considered by the District Commander who has been authorised:—

(i) to order the forfeiture of pension in all such cases, and

(ii) to reduce the pension from such date as is considered suitable in cases where the Local Government and the District Commander are satisfied, on a guarantee of future good behaviour having been given, that this ought to be done.

The Government of India emphasise that these instructions are intended to be acted upon, and that it is particularly desirable in present circumstances that adequate use should be made of them. It will be observed that under these instructions action has to be initiated by the civil authorities, and the civil authorities may feel less reluctance in taking action if they realise that it is not the intention that a pension withdrawn under these orders should in all cases be permanently forfeited.

4. Cases in which the liability to forfeit pension arises out of the prisoner having been convicted of some offence constituting disaffection or disloyalty towards Government.—In these cases the military prisoner will automatically forfeit his pension from the date of his arrest, and the forfeiture of pension will continue during the period of imprisonment and thereafter, unless and until orders specifically directing the restoration of the pension are obtained. It will rest with the prisoner, if he desires to have his pension restored, to make an application to the civil authorities, and if the Local Government, on a consideration of all the circumstances of the case, consider that leniency would be justified and make a recommendation to that effect, the District Commander, on receipt of the recommendation and a written assurance from the prisoner of future loyalty and good behaviour, may in his discretion direct the restoration of the pension from such date as he may determine, but in no case from a date prior to the prisoner's release from prison.

5. The orders contained in the two preceding paragraphs will apply to every form of military pension, except family pensions, and will extend also to assignments of land revenue and cash jagirs granted as rewards for military service.

6. Cases in which the reward is forfeited as a grant of land, held subject to a condition of loyalty.—The reward will be treated subject to the condition of loyal behaviour and active support of Government in any time of trouble or disorder. The terms of the grant will be so drawn as to ensure that the Local Government will in all cases be the final authority to decide whether the condition has been violated and that a breach of the condition will involve revocation, either temporary or permanent, of the grant of such portion thereof as the Local Government may determine. The further practice and procedure laid down in paragraphs 3 and 4 of this Government Order will, with one important exception, apply generally to these cases also. The exception to be made arises out of the fact that it is hardly practicable to promise absolutely that a grant of land shall be automatically forfeited, upon arrest or conviction. In cases where a land grant is affected, therefore, and the grant, under the terms on which it is held, is liable to forfeiture, the following shall be the procedure:—

(a) Action will be initiated by the civil authorities.

(b) In cases where this is appropriate the grantee will, before penal action is taken, be given a severe warning and an opportunity to mend his ways. But the Local Government acting in consultation with the District Commander will be at liberty to rescind the grant without warning in such cases as, they think, merit the extreme penalty.

(c) The concurrence of the District Commander will be obtained in all cases before the grant is withdrawn.

(d) As in the case of pensions, and on the same terms and conditions it will be open to the Local Government, in consultation with the District Commander, to restore the grant in cases where it has been forfeited temporarily.

7. It would be intolerable from every point of view, and particularly in the regard of loyal serving soldiers and loyal military pensioners that individuals who hold gifts of land, on the condition of loyal behaviour and active support of Government, should continue to enjoy these gifts when they have obviously ceased to honour the condition in the letter or in the spirit. Full use will therefore be made of the powers detailed above in regard to forfeitures of pensions or resumption of grants. Heads of departments and District Magistrates should promptly report to Government all cases in which any pension is liable to forfeiture or any grant is resumption under the orders set out above.

8. The instructions conveyed in G.O. No. 874, Public, dated 12th November 1922, are hereby cancelled.

ANNEXURE.

Extract from 'Pay and Allowance Regulations of the Army in India'

509. Future good conduct is an implied condition of every grant of a pension. The Government of India reserves to themselves the right of withholding or withdrawing a pension or gratuity or any part of it, if the pensioner be convicted of serious crime or be guilty of grave misconduct.

The full pension admissible under the rules is not to be given to a member of armed, or police service mentioned has been approved; if the service has not been thoroughly satisfactory, the authority sanctioning the pension may make such 'retentions' in the amount as it thinks proper.

Army Instructions (India) No. 901, dated 23rd September 1924.

It has been decided that the power at present vested in the Government of India under paragraph 509, Pay and Allowance Regulations of the Army in India, Part II, is equal to withholding, reducing or awarding in full or in part the pension (service, disability or family pension) of an Indian military pensioner who may be convicted of serious crime or be guilty of grave misconduct, other than of a political nature, shall in future be exercised by District and Independent Brigade Commanders in consultation with the Controller of Military Accounts concerned and if necessary with the civil authorities.

2. In every case where a pensioner is sentenced to imprisonment or is found guilty of grave misconduct a report should forthwith be made to the Controller of Military Accounts concerned and persons provisionally suspended, pending the final settlement of the question whether the pension should be withheld, reduced or continued in full. In no case, however, will pension be admissible for the period of actual confinement in jail.

3. The regulations will be amended in due course.

He did exceptionally good work and was selected to command a special mobile party. He was prominent in the night attacks against the rebels, fought on 26th December 1922, and showed much resource and courage. He was awarded the King's Police Medal on the 1st January 1923, and is now awarded a bar to that medal. This officer was placed on special duty to effect the capture of Sundabagiam Kader, a notorious dacoit who had defied the police for years, and twice escaped from custody. The area in which the dacoit was held made the Inspector's task exceedingly difficult, but he was able at last to track her down. Sundabagiam was secured on a light vessel between him and the small party of police with the Inspector at the time, which resulted in the death of the dacoit. The diligence displayed by the Inspector and his courage in the final scene were beyond all praise. This officer has done excellent work throughout the Agency operations and distinguished himself particularly when the rebels attacked the police post at Oudera (of which he was in command) on the night of October 26th, 1922. The rebels attacked in strength and a very serious time was saved by the promptness of the Inspector's dispositions and the spirit with which he led a counter attack. This officer was on duty in the Agency for over a year. He never spared himself and the successful outcome against the rebels at Yelke Chakkonda on November 1st, 1923, and again four days later at Kavalakuppam were due to his energy and skill. On October 26th, 1922, during the trial of some persons who had used force in pilfering toddy shops this officer was outposted by a crowd of 700 armed persons who were being urged by their leaders to attack the Sub-Jail. They began to stone the police and the Magistrate's Court. The Inspector, who had only a few local constables, opposed the mobsters with one of which he armed himself, and by his resolute attitude succeeded in dispersing the mob. He also frustrated an attack on the police station. His conduct throughout a very difficult period of turbulent agitation was admirable and he showed remarkable power of initiative and control over the people due to his fine qualities of character. |

* Statement of services for which, in particular, the decoration has been conferred.

This officer rendered very conspicuous services during the floods in Northern Town on 1st December 1924, when he was decorated with the Order of the Nile. The work of the police was to get the people to evacuate their houses in the flooded quarters, and while many police officers did fine work this officer was particularly conspicuous. He was out before dawn warning people and subsequently was in the water for 12 hours on end, for a long time shoulder deep in water in the town near the river cut off by unfavourable rapids. He was exposed to great danger from falling boats. There were only three casualties in all, which the District Magistrate considered to be a great testimony to the splendid work of the police. The District Magistrate specially commended his work.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Port St. George, December 17, 1924 (No. 25, 225, Kamee).

No. 2.—It has been brought to the notice of Government that publications, rules and orders, etc., which are published in the Port St. George Gazette are unnecessarily republished in the District Gazette and that notices are reported in more issues of both the Port St. George and the District Gazette than the necessities of the case require. Extracts of such reports and correspondence received as far as they concern a particular district, and notices relating to the appointment and promotion of, or a grant of leave to district officers may, possibly, be republished in the District Gazette, but ordinarily, republishing in the District Gazette is unnecessary unless it is required by law, or unless the matter concerns a large number of Government servants or local bodies to whom Port St. George Gazettes are not supplied. In such cases, the Government consider that the authority which orders publication in the Port St. George Gazette should decide whether republishing in the District Gazette is necessary. They therefore direct that departments of the Government, Heads of departments and Heads of offices should, when ordering the publication of communications in the Port St. George Gazette, specify in their orders whether such publications should be published in the District Gazette also. Orders of this kind are requested so that no notices are republished, unless republishing has been specifically ordered.

No. 3.—Under paragraphs 135 and 175 of the Printing Manual the maximum number of issues in which a notice may be reported has been prescribed as 3 and 2 for the Port St. George and District Gazette, respectively. The Government consider that, except when Acts or Rules prescribe otherwise, the publication of a notice in more than one issue is unduly unnecessary and accordingly direct that the notice should not be published in more than one issue unless there are special reasons to the contrary.

No. 4.—The Superintendent, Government Press, is requested to bring to the notice of Government cases in which he considers that these orders have not been properly observed.

Port St. George, January 12, 1925.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

CULTIVATION STATEMENT—APRIL TO OCTOBER 1924.

(On an average of the five years ending 1923-24, the area sown from April to October represents 75 per cent of the cultivation on dry lands and 71 per cent on wet lands).

General—Gulistan.—The Coromandel received good rainfall in the first half of the month in continuation of the heavy rain at the end of September. The North-West monsoon was late and burst on the Madras Coast only in the last week of October giving rain to the Coromandel and the South. There was also moderate rainfall in the Central districts and on the West Coast. The rainfall in the month was about average only in Tanjore, Vengalpet, Godevari, and Tanjore and very much in deficit in other districts.

Irrigation water was sufficient in most districts, but supplies were inadequate in many tanks in Chittoor, in parts of Salem and Tiruchirappalli, in the sea-facing area of Madurai, and in Ramanath. There was little flow of water in the rivers and channels of Tanjore.

Sowings on dry lands were somewhat retarded in the north as, owing to timely rainfall, the greater portions of them had already been sown. The main reductions were in Bellary and the Central districts. Wet land sowings were about the average but slightly less than last year; there was a large decrease in Tanjore which was more than counterbalanced by increases in Guntur, South Arcot, and South Arcot.

The transplantation or sowing of paddy was fairly general in the month outside the Coromandel, Chittoor, Bangalore, and Coimbatore were more in parts of the Deccan and Central districts. Other crops sown were cotton in Godevari, Kistna, Bellary, and the South, horse in Kurnool and Chittoor, sugarcane in the Coromandel and Madurai, and cotton in Godevari, Kistna, and Tanjore. Chickpeas and turban were transplanted in Godevari, Kistna, and Madurai.

2 April to October—Sowings.—(a) Dry lands.—The area was about 15 per cent more than the average of last year. The main increases were in Tanjore, the Deccan, Madurai, Chittoor, and Madurai. There was a slight reduction in South Arcot.

(b) Wet lands.—The area exceeded the average and last year by 10 per cent. The main increases were in Tanjore, Vengalpet, Guntur, the Coromandel, North Arcot, and Madurai but there was an appreciable reduction in area on the Coimbatore delta.

3. Figures by districts are given in the statement appended.

Review of retail prices for October 1903.—There was a general fall in the retail prices of all grains owing to the favourable season and the prospect of a good harvest.

The price of rice was almost stationary. The price of cotton fell by about five per cent in the District and more per cent in Trichinopoly, but it rose by six per cent in Coimbatore. The price of sugar fell by about 20 per cent in Coimbatore, Madurai, South Arcot, Karaikal, Coimbatore, and Trichinopoly. The price of rag fell by ten to fifteen per cent in Dargun, Vengayam, Arcot, Bellary, Chingleput, and Coimbatore. The price of rag fell by ten to fifteen per cent in South Arcot, Coimbatore, South Arcot, and Coimbatore.

2. Prices in the month were generally higher than in October 1902. The rise in price was about 20 per cent in the case of rice in Chingleput, South Arcot, the Central District, Dargun, Madurai, Madurai, and Karaikal in Dargun and Trichinopoly, and of rag in Arcot, Chingleput, and the District. The price of dry grain in Dargun and Vengayam, and the price of sugar in Arcot were slightly lower than in the previous year.
